Death of Andrew J. Flynn on Tues day Afternoon-Interesting Notes Gathered Here and There.

Andrew J. Flynn passed peacefully away at his home, 67 Sixth street, Tuesday afternoon at 5 o'clock, after a brief illness. The deceased was born in Ireland and came to Norwich when practically a young man. He had since resided here, having been employed as a folder in the United States Finisha folder in the United States Finishing company. In 1904 he was united in marriage by the Rev. J. J. Smith, to Nellie McNerney, also of this city, who survives him. He is also survived by a brother, Peter, and several nephews and nieces. His many friends will be grieved to learn of his depart

Mr. Britton was asleep on the third floor of the boarding house when he was aroused by George E. Bardon, another roomer. The two men went to a cornice running around the house outside the third floor, where they sat with their feet hanging in midair until they were helped down. Volunteers carried Mr. Britton, then unconscious, to the home of his brother, H. T. Britton, in Crescent road, where he lapsed into coma and died two hours later.

Mr. Britton was a lifelong resident of Madison. He was born in Madison on Aug. 18, 1846. He was a widower and leaves no children. His wife, who was Miss Clark, died about 20 years ago. Of his immediate family, there are three surviving brothers, H. T. Britton of Madison, Fred Britton of Bridgeport and John Britton of Norwich. The funeral was held Saturday and burial took place in Hillight corrections.

The D. A. R. is buying a plot of ground adjoining and back of Continuental Hall, which is in that section of the national capital that is near the site of the great Lincoln Memorial, now being constructed. There has been friendly rivalry among the delegations from several states to see which would buy most of that land. It is held by the owners at a valuation of $1.25 a square foot. The other day a scene occurred like that at an auction, when the rivalry between the Connecticut delegation and that from the District of Columbia reached a climax. First Connecticut announced that she would buy a foot or a few feet, or a score of feet. Then the District delegation did likewise. This will prove a welcome bit of information for all those who are overworked, gloomy, despondent, nervous and have trembling limbs, heart palpitation, dizziness, cold extremities, insomnia, fear without cause, timidity in venturing, and general inability to act naturally and rationally as others do, because the treatment can be prepared secretly his home and taken without anyone's knowledge.

Overworked office men and the many victims of society's late hours and dissipation will, it is said, find the restorative they are in need of.

If the reader decides to try it, get three ounces of ordinary syrup sarsaparilla compound and one ounce compound fluid balmwort; mix and let stand, two hours; then get one ounce compound essence cardiol and one ounce tincture cadomene compound (not cardamom), mix all together, shake well and take a teaspoonful after each meal and one when retiring.

A certain well known medical expert asserts that thousands of men and man-women are sufferers all because of dormant circulation of the blood and a consequential impairment of the nervous force, which begets the most dreadful symptoms and untold misery.
